LOCAL ASSISTANT ENGLISH TEACHER LAUNCHES DEBUT CHILDREN'S PICTURE BOOK

*"I'm Hellie the Hovercraft Elephant and I'm ever so tall,
I'm Hellie the Hovercraft Elephant and I never fall.
I have fur that is fairy floss pink, and it's wonderfully fluffy and light.
For although I am an elephant, I'm an elephant in flight!"*

CALAFELL, SPAIN, April 2016 – Local English Teaching Assistant Carrie Mortleman of Calafell debuted her first children's picture book "Hellie the Hovercraft Elephant" on Amazon via Createspace, and self-published on her website.

Carrie, an Assistant English Teacher originally from Australia, has been working towards publication for 5 years around other duties of motherhood to two young children & moving from London to Spain. She is also a web & graphic designer, and a skilled photographer. Carrie dabbles in cooking and her book is filled with edible characters like the fairy floss elephant, a sugar mouse, a rainbow chocolate snake and a gingerbread house. The photos, imagery and delicious treats are all creations from her vivid and overactive imagination.

Hellie the Hovercraft Elephant starts with a fright as Hellie dreams she cannot fly. She battles fear, wakes from the dream, conquers her dismay and flies gracefully. A lamentable accident sees her squish Queek the Mouse but they soon become the best of friends zooming and flying around together.

The book teaches bravery in the face of fear, the value of friendship & the magic of adventure.

Carrie is available for interviews and appearances. For booking presentations, media appearances, interviews, and/or book-signings contact carriemortleman@gmail.com.
